Yelon’s Five Activities/Events

Phases that almost always occur in well developed instruction.

These phases can be repeated within various units of the instruction.
Yelon’s Five Activities/Events

1. Motivation
   Both intrinsic and extrinsic

2. Orientation
   Help learners see where they’ve been, where they are now, and where they’re going

3. Information
   Presentation of new content
Yelon’s Five Activities/Events

4. Application
   Practice, guidance and feedback – trying out new knowledge/skills

5. Evaluation
   Determining whether learners have mastered the selected objectives
The Instructional Plan

- Organizing content into units of instruction
- Sequencing content
- Events of instruction
- Delivery and instructional strategies
- Specify media and materials that will be used
- Specify time that different parts will take Delivery & Instructional Strategies

- Occur within activities/events
- The ways in which you present/structure info. so that it is most effective
- Goal is to get learner to make active/meaningful connections between existing and new knowledge
- Determined by type of content and performance specified in objectives
